The May Fourth Movement was a Chinese anti-imperialist, cultural, and political movement which grew out of student protests in Beijing on 4 May 1919. In retaliation for the Chinese government's weak response to the Treaty of Versailles, students protested against the government's decision to allow Japan to retain territories in Shandong that had been surrendered by Germany after the Siege of Shandong in 1914.

Introduction to China's May Fourth Movement

Jul 28, 2019 · While the May Fourth Incident occurred on May 4, 1919, the May Fourth Movement began in 1917.

May Fourth Movement | Chinese history | Britannica

May Fourth Movement, intellectual revolution and sociopolitical reform movement that occurred in China in 1917-21. The movement was directed toward national independence, emancipation of the individual, and rebuilding society and culture. In 1915, in the face of Japanese encroachment on China, young intellectuals, inspired by “New Youth” (Xinqingnian), a monthly magazine edited by the

New Culture Movement - Wikipedia

The New Culture Movement was the progenitor of the May Fourth Movement. On 4 May 1919, students in Beijing aligned with the movement protested the transfer of German rights over Jiaozhou Bay to Imperial Japan.

Tiananmen Square incident | Summary, Details, & Facts

Tiananmen Square incident, also called June Fourth Incident or 6/4, series of protests and demonstrations in China in the spring of 1989 that culminated on the night of June 3–4 with a government crackdown on the demonstrators in Tiananmen Square in Beijing. Although the demonstrations and their subsequent repression occurred in cities throughout the country, the events in Beijing contributed to stagnating vaccinations.

The 1919 Independence Movement in Korea and Interconnected

Nov 01, 2021 · Abstract: The articles re-examines the March First Movement of 1919 in light of the “Candlelight Revolution” of 2016-2017 and situates the latter as part of the incremental unfolding of a long revolution that started with the former. To do so, it turns attention to the East Asian configuration in which three nations—Imperial Japan, semi-colonial China, and colonized Korea—were all.

Will A Fourth Wave Sink Transatlantic Travel Rebound

Oct 28, 2021 · Fourth Wave In Europe Threatens Transatlantic Travel Rebound Last week, Morocco banned flights from Germany, Netherlands, and the United Kingdom. Morocco’s Health Ministry noted “the need to avoid possible a relapse of serious and critical cases and COVID-19-related deaths, which have occurred in several European countries.”

A spiritual movement and Germany's low vaccination rate

Nov 23, 2021 · An explosion of coronavirus infections at a German Waldorf school has put a spotlight on contributing to stagnating vaccinations.